

QEII Newsletter

5th December 2025

THIS WEEK

Primary Christmas Performances: If you are planning to attend either of the Primary Christmas Performances, please make sure you have let us know using the link sent out in a letter to all parents & carers on 6th November. Please remember attendance is limited to two guests per family. Please also remember that we do not have any parking available onsite. Please park nearby, while being considerate of our neighbours, and walk into school.

QEII Connections Coffee Morning: QEII Connections are holding a coffee morning in school next Thursday 11th December from 9.30-11.00. Please see the attached poster for more information.

PTFA Volunteering: Our PTFA needs more lovely volunteers. If you or anyone you know would like to support their vital work, please see the attached poster for details.

QEII Glows: Thank you everyone who came to support our second QEII Glows event on Wednesday. It was lovely to see so many of you having a magical time!

HEADTEACHER'S AWARD WINNERS

Luke, Pioneers - Amazing independence and help to do jobs during the school day.

Safiya, Mountaineers - Independently drawing some detailed houses from 1666 for a display about The Great Fire of London.

Jack, Adventurers - Being amazing in Sensory Creative Arts, engaging in every aspect, he moved around the room and used all the resources.

YOIMOJI OF THE WEEK

This week's Yoimoji was Zigzag the patient goat.

LETTERS HOME

Sailors Class: Church trip letter.

CLASS NEWS FROM BALLOONISTS

Balloonists have had a great Autumn term and are looking forward to Christmas. We have continued with our "Big City Bright Lights" theme and linking it to Geography, learning about the four countries that make up the United Kingdom. We also looked at timeline of the queens life , then made our Balloonists timeline and loved looking at our gorgeous baby pics! We are really excited about the Christmas performance and have been practising hard.

CLASS NEWS FROM TRAILBLAZERS

Trailblazers moved into the QEII college this week, they have been settling into their new classroom and exploring the building. They have made gingerbread men to sell at the Christmas Fayre, were able to walk to their swimming session at the Pavilions and have been to Horsham station with Pathfinders and Globetrotters to sing Christmas carols - which was a lot of fun and well received. They are excited for all the opportunities the new college will bring and the pupils have given very positive feedback saying they like the space and feel very grown up.
